

What can Creative Curriculum and Teaching Strategies look like?

Creative Curriculum is a child centered approach to learning. It is designed to meet needs of children while offering strategies to build relationships, develop self-regulation and responding to challenging behaviors. It also shows teachers how to guide children's learning in the direction they are showing an interest in. A large component of creative curriculum is through the design of classroom space and allowing children to explore all interest areas.

Teaching strategies is the online platform used in conjunction with Creative Curriculum. This platform allows teachers to conduct ongoing assessments that can be shared with parents through online communication and parent teacher conferences. This platform also allows teachers to provide ongoing documentation of projects, lessons and other objectives.

What can Creative Curriculum look like in the classroom?

